

Wild Camping Terms and Conditions

Booking and Check-in

- Entry to Gondwana Park is at own risk.
 - This is a remote, off-grid experience with no facilities whatsoever.
 - Before entering the Gondwana Canyon Park campers are required to report to either Canyon Lodge or Roadhouse. This is for safety and security purposes.
 - Campers will also be equipped with refuse bags and magnetic Park Pass which must be on the vehicle at all times while in the park.
- This needs to be returned upon check-out when reporting to the lodge again.

Self-Sufficient Camping

- Campers must bring their own camping equipment, food and all necessary supplies.
 - There is no water available throughout the designated camping area.
- Guests must bring sufficient water for personal use.
- Campers are responsible for ensuring they are adequately equipped and prepared for the conditions.

Driving, Navigation and Fuel

- The route involves 4x4 driving.
 - Campers are responsible for navigating using the map and instructions provided.
 - Sufficient fuel must be carried for the entire drive, including the return journey.
- Fuel is only available at Canyon Roadhouse.
- Guests must remain within the Gondwana Canyon Park and comply with all park access restrictions.
 - Avoid unnecessary off-road driving and remain on designated routes.

Choosing your Camp

- There are no designated individual campsites. Campers may choose their own suitable spot within the permitted wild camping area.
- Do not camp in riverbeds or other areas prone to flash flooding.
- Guests must assess the surrounding terrain and weather conditions before settling in for the night.
- Avoid proximity to waterholes and visible wildlife.

Guest Responsibility and Safety

- Campers enter the Gondwana Canyon Park's designated wild camping area at their own risk and are responsible for their own safety and well-being.
 - Park rangers operate within the park and are present to support safety and conservation.
- However, the camping area has no on-site staff or conventional facilities, and immediate assistance cannot be guaranteed.

- Guests must assess their own wild camping abilities, plan accordingly and take responsibility for their actions while in the Gondwana Canyon Park.
- Campers are responsible for navigating to and from their chosen campsite using the map and instructions provided.
- Guests must follow all Gondwana Canyon Park rules and safety instructions.
- Strictly no fire-arms are permitted within the Gondwana Canyon Park.
- Gondwana Collection Namibia must be informed of any incident, emergency or damage as soon as reasonably possible.
- Guests must not enter restricted areas or undertake activities that place themselves, others or the environment at unnecessary risk.

Wildlife and the Environment

- Do not approach, feed, or disturb wildlife. Always maintain a safe and respectful distance.
- Do not damage vegetation, remove natural materials or disturb the natural environment.
- Quiver trees are a National treasure that must be protected. Do not break branches, damage the trees or carve into their trunks.
- Drones are strictly prohibited within Gondwana Canyon Park.
- Campers must make use of waste bags provided and all waste must be carried out of the park and disposed of responsibly at the check-out points. Nothing must be left behind or dumped in the veld.
- Campers must leave their chosen campsite as they found it, minimising their impact on the landscape.
- Gondwana Canyon Park is managed with a focus on sustainability, responsible tourism and nature conservation. Guests are expected to respect these efforts and help protect the park for future generations.

Fires and Camp Conduct

- Fires must only be made under safe conditions where they do not create a threat of veldfires.
- Fires must never be left unattended and must be completely extinguished before guests leave the campsite or go to sleep.
- Cold fire remains and ash must be managed responsibly in accordance with the guidelines provided. No fire remains may be left behind.

Access and Weather Conditions

- Access may be restricted due to weather, road conditions, safety concerns or environmental considerations.
- Campers must comply with any instructions to avoid or leave an area when required for safety or conservation reasons.

Lodge Facilities and Additional Activities

- Restaurant, bar and dining facilities at Canyon Lodge and Canyon Roadhouse are subject to operating hours, availability and applicable charges.
- Guided nature drives are subject to availability and incur additional charges.

Cancellations and Amendments

- Bookings, cancellations and amendments are subject to the applicable booking conditions communicated at the time of reservation.
- Gondwana Collection Namibia reserves the right to restrict access or cancel a wild camping stay at their discretion.

Acknowledgement

By booking Canyon Wild Camping, guests acknowledge that this is a remote, self-sufficient camping experience without conventional facilities or on-site assistance. Guests accept responsibility for their own preparation, conduct, safety and environmental impact, and agree to comply with all instructions and the Gondwana Canyon Park regulations provided by Gondwana Collection Namibia.

Park Security for Conservation

- Armed anti-poaching units, K9 units and park rangers patrol the Gondwana Canyon Park.
